Sound. Capt. McCLINTOCK says;—

Being unable to penetrate beyond Bellot Straits, the Fex wintered (1858--50) in Bentford Bay, and the search—including the estuary of the Great Fish River, and the discovery of 800 miles of coast line, by which we have united the explorations of the former searching expeditions, to the north and west of our position, with those of JAMES ROSE, DEASE, and Sunson, and Raz to the South—has been performed by sledge journeys this spring, con fucted by Lieutemant Hosson, R. N., Captain ALLEN YOUNG, and myself. Many deeply interesting relies of our lost country-men have been picked up upon the western shore of King William Island, and others obtained from the Esquimaux, by whom we were informed that (subse-quent to their abandonment) one ship was crushed and sunk by the ice, and the other forced on shore, where she has ever since remained, affording them an almost inextaustible mine of wealth.

The following are copies of original papers found by Captain McCLINTOCK, on Prince of the report:

— of May, 1847.

Our wintering position was at the east entrance to Bellot Strait, in a snug harbor, which I have named Port Kennedy, after my predecessor in these waters, the commander of one of Lady Pranalit's former searching expeditions. Although regotation was tolerably abundant, and our two Esquimanx hunters, Mr. Perrassus, and several sportsame constantly on the alert, yet the resources of the country during eleven mouths and a haif only yielded us eight reinder, two bears, eighten scals, and a few water fow and ptarmigen. The winter was unusually cold and storny. Arrat gements were completed during the winter for carrying out our intended plan of search; if sell it to be my duly personally to visit Marchal Laland, and in so doing, proposed to complete the circuit of King William Island.

On 28th February, when near Cape Victoria, we had the good fortune to meet a small party of mailres, and were subsequently visited by about forty-five individuals. For four days we remained in communication with them, obtaining many re ics, and the information that several years ago a ship was crushed by the ice off the north shore, off King William Island, but that all her people landed safely, and went away to the Great Fish River, where they died. On 2d of April our long protracted spring journeys were commenced; Lieut. Houson accompanied me as far as Cape Victoria. Before separating we saw two Esquimaux families living out upon the ice in snow huts, from them we learned that a second ship had been seen off King William Island, and that she drifted ashore on the fall of the same year. From this ship they had obtained a vast deal of wood and iron. I now gave Lieutenant Houson directions to search for the wreck, and follow up any traces he might find upon King William Island.

Accompanied by my own party and Mr. Persuaes, I marched along the cast shore of King William Island.

Accident to the Quaker City.

Norfolk, Oct. 2.—Nearly one hundred passengers of the steamship Quaker City, Capt. Saurenter, 1,750 New York, bound to Havana, have arrived here. On the 7to inst, fifty miles south of Cape Hattens her engine was smashed. The excitement was very great, and the beats were manned, provisioned and equipped, 3s it was supposed the ship was leaking leadly. The pumps were immediately set to work, and ten inches of water thrown out of the ship, but it was found that she was not leaking. The ensign was set 'union down," which brought to her relief the bark Dunbarton, Capt Charbourans, of Boston, from Turks Island, bound to New York. She took on board passengers and plenty of provisions, under charge of J. Z. Hasgons, and Dr. Pinner, and the charge of J. Z. Hasgons, and Dr. Pinner, suggeon of the Quaker City, and arrived safely in Hampton Roads last night. Theive of the passengers and all the officers preferred remaining on board the steamer, which was last seen forty miles south of Cape Hatteras, near the Guif stream, the wind being light, though a very heavy sea was running. No serious danger to the ship is apprehended, and no loss of life has occurred.

Accompanied by my own party and Mr. Petrolen, I marched along the cast above of King William Island, occasionally passing deserted snow huts, but without meeting natives till the 8th of May, when of Gape Norton we arrived at a snow village containing about 36 inhabitents. They gathered about us without the slightest appearance of fear or shyness, although none had ever seen living white people before. They were most willing to communicate all their knowledge, and barter all their goods, but would have stolen everything had they not been very closely watched. Many more relies of our countrymen were obtained—we could not carry away all we might have purchased. They pointed to the inlet we had crossed the day before, and told us that one day's march up it, and from thence four days overland, brought them to the wrock. None of these people had been there since 1851-5, a which time they said but little realized, their countrymen having carried away simust everything.

Most of our information was received from an intelligent old womp. She said it was on the fall of the year that the ship was forced astore. SECOND DESPATOR.

We are indebted to Messers. Davingous Woodworth, Dr. A. Wilson, and Edmonators, for the following particulars of the disaster to the Quaker City:

Mr. Elmonators gives the following details:—On hearing the shock I sprang up: the crosstall had first parted on the port side, disabling the shock I sprang up: the crosstall had first parted on the port side, disabling the engine, which, aided by the swell of the sea acting on the cranks, and from this on the crosstall, had thrown the whole duty on the starboard side lever, which in turn parted about two thirds of the distance from the fulerum; the weight of this broken part carried the cross-head air pump to this side, bending the rod and guide rods, and carrying away the gland boits of the stuffing box, the crosstall boing freed from the centrel of the side levers, and under the action of the swell of the sea, carried the cranks over the centre, and they swung in a succession of heavy strokes against the fore and aft columns supporting the main shaft, and parred the bed plates in two or three pieces close by the two after columns: the starboard crosstall links being bent by the strokes of the side lever, struck the steam pipe with force, tearing off the felt from the cylinders; the end did not escape accident—the levers being united at the crank-pin, the breaking off of the port journal cross-ball caused the cylinder cross-head to deviate from the levol; and the side rods to more out of their vertical lines; the cross-heads to deviate from the levol; and the side rods to more out of their vertical lines; the cross-heads of deviate from the levol; and the side rods to more out of their vertical lines; the cross-heads of deviate from the levol; and the side rods to more out of their vertical lines; the cross-heads of deck beams on the port and starboard sides successively, splitting and tearing them into atoms, and raising part of the upper deck; the piston rods were also bent; the cylinders and the sufficience CHAMPION SCULL RACE AT STATEN ISLAND The scullers champion race takes place to-day (10th), at Staten Island—first landing—between t and 4 P. THE HOME FOR WITNESSES .-- Among the improvements which the Metropolitan Police Law was designed to make, there was not one that met with as early and general approval as that which directed the Commissioners to establish a house for the deten-tion of witnesses, distinct from the places in which crimina's themselves were confined. As soon as was practicable after the recognition of the law, a place for the reception of these innocent prisoners was es-tablished, and has since furnished the most gratifytablished, and has since furnished the most gratify-ing results. The place of detention, as published by the Times, embraces two buildings standing togeth-er in Wisite street—numbers so and 38. The walls are brick; they are three stories in height, with the addition of basements and roomy attics. They are each 25 feet by 80, and have yards in the rear somebasement of No. 86 is used as a kitchen, and the base-ment of No. 86 is the dining-room. In the rear of No. 86 an addition bas been made, the basement of which is used as a wash room, and the upper part as a sit-ting-room. In other respects the arrangement of the two buildings is nearly the same. There are in all 34 rooms. The first floor of each—aside from the rearextension to No. 86-is divided into two rooms. In and other observations, subservient to scientific purposes, and for which instruments were supplied through the liberatity of the Royal Society, have been continually and carefully taken, and every opportunity has been embraced by the surgeon, D. Walker, M.D., of forming complete collections in all the various branches of natural history.

Accompanying this report are complete invented and though the ventories of the articles found, and though the ventories of the ventor equired. In No. 88 they are employed for the same ourpose, with the exception of two rooms on the first oor, which are used as sitting rooms; the rear large com on the second floor as an infirmary for the de ained when any of the male inmates are sick. The rentilation, though not as satisfactory as it might be, is as good, because it is the same, as in any ordinary dwelling house in that locality. The furniture in the Male Department is, perhaps, meagre. There are no carpets, but the floors are clean, and the rooms do not give out offensive odors. The bedsteads are of iron; and if the beds and bedding are not such as people in independent circumstances usually purhase, they are clean and not uncomfortable; doubtess to many of the detenus, they are luxurious.

The house was established on the 1st of February,

1558. Nine days afterwards, nineteen witnesses wer received from the Tombs, most of them in a filthy condition. Before being allowed to go to their rooms they were thoroughly washed, and the coudi tion of their clothing improved. The average num-ber received since then has been about 30 each nonth-nearly one-third of whom have been fe males. The inmates are called at 756 A. M., and have breakfast at 7. They then enjoy the use of the sitting-rooms or the yard, for recreation, until 9 at night; when they return to their several apart ments, and are locked in until morning. Besides the keeper, there are three doormen in attendance. One remains on watch all night, so that is case of the sudden illness of any one, Dr. WATERBURY, the surgeon, may be called, and such other attendance as may be required may be given. Sometimes witnesses are brought in who have been severely in jured in lights or otherwise. Such are taken to the infirmary already mentioned, where they are cared for as their causes demand. There have been as many as four or five at a time in the hospital room. Occasionally a witness is received, who, on account of turbulent conduct, has to be sent to the Tombs; but such is not often the case, for when there they are generally inclined to be orderly Whenever there are a number of children detained as witnesses, it is the custom of the keeper to form them into a class, and instruct them in the rudiment as taught in the Common Schools. On Sunday evenings, they have religious services, in the main parlors of No. 28, and in every way there seems to be a judicious provision for the comfort, pleasure and in provement of those who are obliged to remain there. The establishment is by the act placed under the supervision of the Board of Police Commissioners Ail supplies, however, are voted by the Board of Supervisors, an arrangement which sometimes caused inconvenience, as the Commissioners and Supervisors are not uniformly of one mind on the question of supplies. Nevertheless, although the iron gratings in ront of the windows in No. 88 give the building some thing of the aspect of a Station House, or an Insang Asylum, there can be very little occasion to complain

Mr. Field said that a motion could be made at any time, and he should make it upon the opening of that Court next week.

U. S. Circuit Court. The United States vs. J. K. Herrick.—The defendant is the noted stationer in John street, and the action is to recover $125 000 or more for that amount under valuation of invoices introduced into the Custom House. An agent had been dispatched to Europe to investigate the charge. Motion was now made to reduce the ball, as it awas out that the under valuation could not exceed $30,000. Motion granted, and ball reduced to $5,000.

Accident on the Flushing R. R.

A LOCOMOTIVE AND TENDER OFF THE TRACK, AND ONE MAN HUST.—As the nine o'clock train on the Flushing railroad was leaving Hunter's Point on Saturday morning, the locomotive ran off the track between the depot and the plankroad, throwing the locomotive and tender, and the forward part of one passenger car down a declivity of some five or aix feet, smashing up, and injuring Mr. Hussa, the carpenter of the road. The engineer saw the switch displaced after he started out of the depot, but too late to check the speed of the train. Mr. Hussa was on the tender and was buried under the ruins, but escaped without serious injury. For about three hundred feet the track is laid on sleepers, supported on wooden horses setting upon the sandy beach. Over this is quite a sharp curve, and the locomotive fell over the inside of the curve, carrying with it a portion of the track. The ruins so blocked up the road that a temporary track had to be laid to get another locomotive out, with which to take the cars to Flushing. The damage done to the road is about $5.000.

Arrest Of Prize Fightpers.—Vesterday cars to Flushing. The damage done to the road is about $5.000.

Arrest of Prize Fighters.—Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock, a party of about a dozen "rougha," from the sinks of the 6th Ward, went to Wyckoff's Woods, I'th Ward, for a friendly "mill." Some citizens saw them, and suspecting their intentions, gave information to the police of the 6th pricing, and the price of the 6th parties, captured all but two, who made their escape. The party had not yet stripped for the fight, when arrested, and refused to disclose who were the fighting men. They gave their names as Pat. Flanchear, Ewd. Leonard, Pat. Role, Pat. MCTa., Pat. Fitzonald, James Mickels, Johns Comoror, who is supposed to be one of the fighters, and James Grat. They are tinkers by occupation. They were locked up for examination, but will probably get off with light punishment, as the officers are unable to prefer any other charge than that of disorderly conduct, not having seen them engaged in a fight.

JERSEY CITY.

JERSEY CITY.

FA STEAM ROAD WAGON.—On Saturday afternoon, a steam road wagon made its appearance in Jersey City, and attracted considerable attention. Passing along Grove street, in attempting to turn out for a team, the steam animal came in collision with a tree, and the steering apparatus was disabled. It was built at the machine shop of Danform, Cook & Co, of Faterson, and was propelled over the road from that place to Jersey City on its way to New York. The engineer states that it was run at the rate of about 20 miles an hour.

A MAN MISSING—SCIPTORED FOUL PLAY.—Considerable alarm is felt for the safety of Mr. Danier Kerman, who has been missing from his home, Bergen, since Thursday last. On that evening he left Myma' Hotel, on the Newark Flank Road, about 9 o'clock, for home, crossing to the Bergen Point Pank Road, through a piece of woods, and was last seen walking along the road in the vicinity of the woods. He was known to have with him over $150 in money.
